meticulously crafted from aluminum by the renowned French yard, Construction Navale Bordeaux, under the expert guidance of naval architect Philippe Cabon and interior designer Frank Darnet.

SAVARONA has undergone several comprehensive refits throughout its lifespan, with the latest one completed in 2021. The recent refit was specifically aimed at preparing the yacht for a long-term program and trade registration (RIF), resulting in significant enhancements in terms of comfort, reliability, and performance. Notable improvements include the installation of new standing rigging, engine, and boom, along with thorough overhauls of various onboard systems.

SAVARONA boasts a thoughtfully designed twin cockpit layout that provides ample space for both guests and crew. The center cockpit area features a rounded settee and a generously sized dining table, custom-designed with an ice bucket and wired Bluetooth connectivity to the yacht's stereo system. The aft steering/crew cockpit offers a comfortable seating area, separate from the main cockpit, ensuring dedicated space for steering and navigation. Moreover, the yacht is equipped with full Internet connectivity and communication capabilities, allowing the owner to seamlessly run their business while enjoying cruising adventures around the world.

SAVARONA has an impressive sailing history, including a memorable Atlantic crossing in 2017. During this voyage, she covered a distance of 4,009 miles with an impressive average speed of 9.2 knots. To maintain her exceptional condition, the yacht has undergone meticulous maintenance and care, accumulating over 8,000 miles under her current owner.

With her captivating appearance and meticulous attention to detail, SAVARONA stands out as a true gem in the world of sailing yachts. The recent refit has revitalized her aesthetic appeal, featuring a fully repainted mast, boom, hull, and superstructure. Additionally, the yacht now showcases newly installed 16 mm Burma teak decks and caprail, complemented by refreshed interior varnishing and high-quality fabrics. Beyond the visible enhancements, extensive work has been carried out on the yacht's systems, ensuring seamless functionality and uninterrupted charter operations. Whether as a private yacht or a charter vessel, SAVARONA offers an exceptional opportunity for discerning buyers.
